NUMBER 29

PROTRACTED ILLNESS

Results in Death of Mrs. R. W. Wathen.—Funeral Tomorrow At St. Dominic's Church.

Many friends and relatives in this community are mourning the death of Mrs. R. W. Wathen, which occurred yesterday at the home of her husband. Mrs. Wathen had for some time past been a great sufferer from a complication of diseases, and while it had long been known that her death was but a question of a short time the grief of those who knew her was no less poignant.

Mrs. Wathen was born August 23, 1882, and before her marriage, October 32, 1888, was a Miss McAtee, a member of the well-known family of that name of this county. To her and Mr. Wathen two children, J. B. and Virginia, were born. The deceased also survived by the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Bettie Logsdon, of St. Mary's, Mrs. Theresa Hagan, of this place, Miss Ella McAtee, of Cincinnati, Mr. Geo. McAtee, of Cincinnati, Mr. Felix McAtee, of St. Paul, Kan., and Mr. Jas. McAtee, of Lebanon.

The funeral services will be conducted at St. Dominic's church tomorrow (Thursday) morning at 9 o'clock.

Brown—Wells.

Miss Viola Brown, of this place, and Mr. Nick Wells, of Taylorsville, were quietly married in the parlors of Rev. T. M. Hays, in Louisville, last Thursday evening at 8:20 o'clock. The ceremony was witnessed by only a few near friends and relatives and there were no attendants. The bride is one of the best known and greatly loved of the young people of Springfield, and is a daughter of the late E. B. Brown. Mr. Wells is a young business man of Taylorsville, where he and his bride will make their home.

Trip to Washington.

Editor Fay of Lyons, Ia., has been called to Washington City because his subscription list is not as well paid up as the law requires. He will have to explain to government officials why he has not compelled his subscribers to pay up, according to postal rules. An inspector had visited him two months previously, and his subscription list was said to be pretty thoroughly paid up, but evidently it was not sufficiently so. It seems a little tough that a newspaper owner has to be hauled up before the government on the charge of having violated federal laws just because he does not eternally keep dunning his subscribers for the small sums they owe on subscriptions; but it is like the end of the world—no man knows when it comes; and no editor knows what day an inspector may pop in and ask to see the lists.

Lightning Strikes House.

The electrical storm of Sunday night damaged the residence of Mr. J. P. Willett, on Grundy Avenue, to a considerable extent, and caused the entire family to sustain quite a scare. The lightning tore off the top of one of the chimneys, tore a mantle loose from the wall, dashed the fender away from the fire place and played other capers which only the mad and weird treads of lightning can play. Every member of the family sustained a shock but none was seriously hurt.

New Laws

Laws passed by the last Legislature are now in effect and complications may ensue. All acts passed by the Legislature at its last session became laws at midnight Tuesday, so far as they do not conflict with constitutional provisions. The first of the new laws to cause trouble is that doing away with special judges and requiring the regular circuit judges to act where a judge is ill or disqualified. Gov. Wilson is required under the new law to designate a regular judge who shall act in the place of disqualified officials. To find regular judges who are not holding court at the time a vacancy occurs is what is puzzling the Governor. Another new law is that which provides that hereafter juries shall pass only on the guilt or innocence of the accused and shall not fix the time of punishment, neither is this fixed by the judge. He sentences the prisoner to the pen for a term running the least and greatest term allowed by law. The prisoner may be paroled after serving the least term and if he is not paroled he will serve the longest term allowed by law. There is a question as to whether this law applies to the trial of prisoners for a crime committed in the past or whether it applies only to trials for crimes committed in the future.

Wants To Help Some One.

For thirty years J. F. Boyer, of Perle, Mo., needed help and couldn't find it. That's why he wants to help some one now. Suffering so long himself he feels for all distressed from Backache, Nervousness, Loss of Appetite, Lassitude and Kidney disorders. He shows that Electric Bitters work wonders for such troubles. FIRE DESTROYS STORE HOUSE

Johnson & Co., of Pulliam, Are Heavy Losers in Early Morning Fire.

About daybreak yesterday morning the general store of Johnson & Co. at Pulliam, in the Northern part of this county, was destroyed by fire. The flames spread so rapidly that not only the large store house and furniture warehouse were destroyed, but their entire contents. So well. The residence of Mr. Johnson, which is situated nearby, was saved. The entire loss suffered by the firm will amount to $15,000 with $6,000 insurance. The loss will also be greatly felt by the community as the store supplied the wants of the people for miles around.

SYMPSON WILL SUSTAINED

Jury Brings Verdict After Deliberating About One Hour.

After having been in their room only about an hour the jury in the Sympton will case brought in a verdict sustaining the will of the late John A. Sympton. Two of the jurors voted to break the will. The case was called Monday, June 6, and the verdict returned by the jury Thursday afternoon, June 16, nine days being occupied in the trial. Probably fifty or seventy-five witnesses were introduced to show the soundness or unsoundness of the testator's mind. Able and eloquent arguments were made by Attorneys Halstead, Barlow and Lewis for the contestants, and by Attorneys McChord, Kelly and Mayes for the propounders. A motion for a new trial was made by the contestants but was overruled by the court, and an appeal will probably be taken to the Court of Appeals.

Good News if True.

A firm in England has opened up large laboratories for the purpose of raising millions of billions of bacteria for use in the dairies of the world.

The manager of the new company says that "the discovery of the preservative microbe is the result of years of scientific research. Its object is to fight other microbes that are found in butter which have a harmful effect upon it—that for turning it rancid. The only way fighting these germs has been to ben by the use of preservative chemicals, which are harmful adulterants."

"But now the firm has succeeded in finding an antidote germ to the harmful one, and by introducing it into the milk before churning, butter is made which will keep fresh and pure for a long time. The inoculation of the milk has the effect, broadly speaking, of setting up a fight between the opposing armies of good germs and bad ones."

The microbes are sold in the form of a clear liquid, in small bottles, which is added to buttermilk and put into the cream.

When the preparation is ready one gallon of it is added to every twenty gallons of cream in the churn, the rest of the butter making process proceeding in the usual way.

The prices of the cultures used in these processes vary from 75 cents to $2.50 a bottle. The cultures are equally effective in margarine.

The Tablets cleanse and invigorate the stomach, improve the digestion, regulate the bowels. Give them a trial and get well. Sold by All Druggists.

The Lamb Trade.

Lambs have supplanted hogs on the boards of soaring prices at the Bourbon stock yards. For several months nearly every day brought a new high record price for hogs until the $12 mark was nearly reached, and are doing some flashy aviation stunts as hogs ever did. A fancy carload of ewe and other lambs brought $9.75 at the Bourbon stock yards to-day and the general run of good lambs brought $9.50, the latter price being an advance of 10 per cent ever yesterday. These are record high prices for lambs at this season of the year. The general market was 10 cents higher than yesterday. Second grade lambs brought from $7 to $7.50 and fat sheep from $5 to $5.50. Receipts for the day were 5,200 head making, 16,780 head for the week. While receipts are picking up at a good rate they are still behind last year and are not in sufficient numbers to satisfy the buyers.—Louisville Times Friday.

Green County Must Pay

C. & O. Railroad Bonds.

In the United States court at Louisville Monday Judge Evans granted a peremptory writ of mandamus commanding the County Judge and Magistrates composing the Fiscal court of Green county to assemble and levy a sufficient tax to pay the judgments of Mary Ann Quinn and Charley Murphy and others, the first for about $100,000, and the second for about $150,000, and to certify the levy for collection to the Collector of County Revenues.

The suits for mandamus are based upon judgments against the county, rendered by the Federal court, affirmed by the United States Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court of the United States.

The controversy arises out of bonds issued by Green county to aid the construction of the Cumberland and Ohio Railroad through Green and adjacent counties about the year 1870.

Begin Sentence.

Sheriff Sam J. Anderson took Joe Reed, the negro convicted of killing Jack Kimberlin, to Frankfort on Friday to begin serving the five year sentence which was given him by the jury which tried him last March. After Reed's conviction his attorneys, Messrs. W. C. McChord and J. W. Lewis, took the case to the Court of Appeals but the lower court was sustained. They then asked for a new hearing but were overruled. They are now discussing the advisability of taking an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

A Good Play.

The Dramatic Club from St. Mary's College presented the three-act comedy, "The College Toastmaster," at the Opera House last Thursday night to a well-filled and appreciative house. The cast is composed exclusively of students from St. Mary's who acted their parts most acceptably. A one-act farce, "Blind Beggars," was greatly enjoyed by the audience as were the specialties, particularly the violin solo of Prof. Wuerth.

School Notes.

The White Teacher's Institute has been postponed until some time in August. The Colored Teacher's Institute will be held jointly with Marion, Taylor, Green and Washington counties at Campbellsville, beginning July 4th and continuing five days. All persons holding certificates will be obliged to attend these institutes or forfeit their right to teach in the county this year.

School may be contracted for to begin on or after July 5th; not before that time.

PER CENT CLAUSE WOULD BIND GROWERS HAND AND FOOT

In Communication, Executive Committee of Burley Tobacco Society, Shows how Such a Provision Would Work Destruction of the Movement—Opinions of Lawyers Given.

Headquarters Burley Tobacco Society, Lexington, Kentucky.

Dear Sir:—

Some persons who desire the ruin and destruction of the Burley Tobacco Society and who would, in accomplishing their purpose, deliver the Tobacco growers, bound hand and foot, into the power of the Tobacco Trust, are, through newspapers and on the stump, demanding that a 75 per cent. clause be inserted in the pledge.

Since there may be honest men who honestly believe that such a clause should be in the pledge, we take this means of telling you why those who have your interests at heart, and whom you have chosen to protect your property, did not, and could not, insert in the 1910 pledge a 75 per cent. clause.

The first pledge contained a per cent. clause, and we learned by experience that there is danger in such a clause.

When we took legal steps against men who broke their pledges, some lawyers, who could make the worse cause appear the better, would take the ground that we did not have the required per cent. In a community where officers of the law and public sentiment were in favor of pooling, the verdict would be for the Society. In communities where the officers of the law and public sentiment were against pooling, the verdict would be for the man who broke his pledge. In this way the loss of the pooled tobacco worked hardship to the honest members. Seeing the difficulty that it made, our lawyers advised us not to put a per cent. clause in subsequent contracts.

We include in this circular a letter from Col. John R. Allen, giving his opinion on this subject.

The General Assembly has passed all the laws necessary to protect our Society if we use common sense and the light of experience, but to put a per cent. clause in the 1910 pledge would open a gap through which contract breakers could escape.

A per cent. clause in the contract would only make a mark for the Trust to shoot at. If we inserted a 75 per cent. clause the Trust would only have to buy up 26 per cent. and thus make any pool impossible. Having bought the smallest fraction over one-fourth of the crop at good prices the Trust would be able to control the remainder of the crop for anything it was pleased to pay.

The way to get 75 per cent. pledged is to go after it not to waste time and energy in a wrangle about a technicality that would weaken the pool. The only reason that we have not 75 per cent. or 85 per cent. in the 1909 pool is that selfish or short-sighted men, claiming to be the growers' friends, made war on us during the last pooling season and confused and misled the people. Don't be misled this time.

Extending the time of declaring the pool to Nov. 1st gives two boards the opportunity to pass on it. The old board has the right to declare the pool off prior to Oct. 1st, if in their judgment they deem it best. The new board, elected about Oct. 1st, and representing the will of those who have just elected them will have the right to declare the pool off on or before November 1st.

Recently we mailed you a 4-page sheet, containing a full discussion of the matters of difference between the Society and those who seek our ruin. We earnestly hope that you will take time to read all that is in those four pages as also the contents of a second sheet, which we shall send you in a few days. It is the fault to work too much and to read and think too little. It is just as necessary to maintain an organization to sell your tobacco at a good price as it is to grow it.

Sincerely yours,

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE BURLEY TOBACCO SOCIETY.

In a communication to members, the Executive Committee of the Burley Tobacco Society explains why no per cent. clause was inserted in the contract for the 1910 pool, and why such a clause should not be embodied. Accompanying this communication is a letter from Col. John R. Allen, written March 5, in which is stated the opinion of Attorneys for the Society. The letter follows:

Letter from Col. John R. Allen.

Lexington, Ky., March 5, 1910.

Executive Board Burley Tobacco Society, City.

Gentlemen:—

Mr. Pendleton and myself have gone over the draft of the pledge for the year 1910 and return the same with certain amendments and changes which we suggested and which are noted thereon.

We have heretofore advised the Board very strongly not to embody in the pledge for 1910 any guarantee of the percentage of tobacco to be pooled or any number of acres to be pooled before the pool becomes effective, and we are glad to know, after talking with the Board, that the majority of the Board agrees with us in this opinion.

Our experience with litigation growing out of suits against dumpers is, that a guaranty of a certain percentage of the acreage or a guaranty of a percentage of the amount of tobacco to be pooled before the pool becomes effective, was a great detriment to us under the 1909 pledge and put us at a great disadvantage, because in every instance the parties claimed that we did not have the percentage pooled as we claimed, and it would necessitate, if the same clause were contained in the 1910 pledge, a great deal of trouble and expense and investigation in order to prove that we had the necessary percentage pooled.

Yours very truly,

[Signed] John R. Allen, Attorney.

For The Comfort Of The Horse

The above illustration shows how horses may have sound shoulders and necks even when doing the heaviest work.

No pressure on the upper and lower points of the bone, consequently no sores, swellings or collar boils. All the pressure is placed on the thick muscular portion of the shoulder where nature intended. Pressure applied at any other place is an injury to the horse. There you have the principle on which the collar is built. Pressure applied in the proper place and in the proper manner.

Call and let me show you and explain how and why it protects your horses.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, JR., WEDS MISS ALEXANDER

Eldest Son of Former President and Pretty New York Girl Are Married in Gotham--Will Reside in San Francisco.

New York.—The Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church was the scene of a wedding on June 20 that attracted the attention and interest of the nation. That of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Miss Eleanor Butler Alexander.

A large number of prominent people witnessed the ceremony, but generally the most noticed person in the church, after the bride and groom, was Col. Theodore Roosevelt, father of the young man who was entering the state of matrimony. The date of the wedding, but in the main he has been less enthusiastic on the subject of life in the open than his father and brother. He has always been of a studious nature and his romance with Miss Alexander is said to have had its beginnings in the mutual love of the young people for music. For all that "Teddy, Jr.," was eschewed the sensational in outdoor athletics, he did participate two years ago in a balloon flight from Washington, in which he and the two army officers

It still more wonder was aroused when he took employment in a Connecticut carpet factory in order to gain knowledge at first hand of the practical side of carpet manufacture. He started at the lowest round of the ladder, as an unskilled workman at a small salary. was entertained at the home of the bride's uncle, Charles B. Alexander. At least a part of the honeymoon will be spent at Sagamore Hill, the country home of the Roosevelt family at Oyster Bay, Long Island. Later in the summer the young couple will start for San Francisco, where Mr. Roosevelt is to be in charge of the interests of the carpet manufacturing firm with which he has been associated for some time.

The love story of the young couple has been a matter of much interest. Their engagement was announced only last winter and the news was cabled to Colonel Roosevelt, resulting in the speedy receipt of his approval and congratulations. The bride, who is the daughter of Henry Addison Alexander of New York, is twenty-one years old, of a little more than medium height, slender and of very attractive appearance, having an especially beautiful complexion. She is as animated as her famous sister-in-law, Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, whose house guest she was for a time last before Mrs. Longworth sailed for England to join her father.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., strongly resembles his father in looks, but is decidedly reserved and is generally credited with being far less democratic than certain members of the family. As a boy he rode horseback and engaged in all the other outdoor pursuits of the juvenile Roosevelt cart at their home at Oyster Bay, and he took some part in athletics during his preparatory school course at Groton and his collegiate course at Harvard.

Garden Work Aid to Beauty.

Working in the garden and picking flowers make gentle exercises that tends to improve the figure. Many society women believe this, and on Long Island there is said to be a score of society women who are resorting to this treatment for health and elasticity. Mrs. O. P. Belmont spends much time in her garden in Southampton. Mrs. Herbert M. Harriman and many others say they delight to pick flowers, and the question has been raised whether they are not following the advice of a beauty specialist who advises this for health and the form. "If a woman is in earnest about becoming slim," says the beauty doctor, "she will use the same muscles in working over a flower bed as she will in exercising in a gymnasium. Working seems prosaic, but it is excellent exercise. One of my patients came to me recently and said she wished to develop her arms and her shoulders. I told her to go home and run the lawn mower. She was startled at first, but finally she followed my advice and it did her a world of good."

ROUND ABOUT —THE STATE—

MOST IMPORTANT NEWS GATHERED FROM ALL PARTS OF KENTUCKY

INTERSTATE COMMERCE NOT INVOLVED.

Court Holds Attorneys Are Not Agents for Buyer or Seller.

Frankfort, Ky.—Reports furnished by attorneys for guaranty companies are not instrumentalities in facilitating or carrying on interstate commerce. This opinion was delivered by the court of appeals in the case of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co. against the commonwealth, in which the judgment of the Mason circuit court imposing a fine of $150 on the company for failure to pay a state license was affirmed.

The question involved was whether the attorneys employed by the company for the purpose of obtaining an indictment was engaged in the business of interstate commerce and exempt under Section 423 of the Kentucky Statutes, providing that each for person, partnership and corporation having representatives in this state, etc., shall pay a license tax of $100.

As for the interstate commerce provision the appellate court says: "It is not competent for the state to place any burden of restraint in any way, of taxation or otherwise, upon any of the articles or things that are subject to the interstate commerce until it has acquired a status or place of abode within the jurisdiction of the state."

The court also says that the Mayville attorneys for guaranty companies are not agents for either the buyer or seller in the sense that the goods or articles were bought or sold through their agents.

KENTUCKY COURT DECISION.

Holds That the Treasurer in Second-Class Cities Controls the Fund.

Frankfort, Ky.—Neither the mayor nor the sinking fund commissioners of the city of Louisville have authority to make deposits of funds due the sinking fund, or to have in any manner the control or possession of the funds due to the city of Louisville, in the case of George W. Walter, treasurer, vs. John J. Dorian, et al., reversing the judgment of the McCracken circuit court.

The court held that when Walters succeeded Dorian as city treasurer it was the duty of Dorian to turn over all the funds that had come into his hands as treasurer, from whatever source or for whatever purpose intended, and it was the duty of Walters to receive them and deposit them as required by the statute in the city depository selected by him.

The court says, "The treasurer has the right to change the depository, and, of course, to remove the funds deposited by him."

KENTUCKY STATE GRANGE.

Will Hold Session in October at Winchester.

The Kentucky State Grange will meet in Winchester in a three days' session, October 25, 26 and 27. Three hundred of the leading farmers of the state will be in attendance. Secretary Hampton C. Conly, has been in correspondence with Master F. P. Wolcott, of the grange. Mr. Wolcott, in his letter says that certain things are desired by the grange. Among them are low round-trip rates and a satisfactory hall in which to hold the open and secret work of the order. Mr. Wolcott says the members are very desirous of coming as Winchester is known as the "most hospitable convention city in the state."

STRIKES ZINC AND SILVER.

Georgetown, Ky.—Dr. J. R. Seel, of Louisville, who recently purchased the stock of J. Brannan and George W. Adolphe, of Louisville, in the mining prospects of the Kentucky mountains, has struck a four-foot vein of zinc and another almost as large of silver.

Mayfield, Ky.—A large frame to be used in the Mayfield mine was destroyed by fire. There was about $10,000 worth of tobacco belonging to V. B. Cochran, of this city, and Clarence Brown, of Paducah, in the barn, all of which was destroyed. The house was the property of Frank McClate, and the insurance probably covers the tobacco loss.

NARROWLY ESCAPE BURNING.

Glasgow, Ky.—The family of C. Ekers, who reside near Old Wells, the county, narrowly escaped being burned alive while asleep in their beds. The engine that pumps the oil wells was located in an engine house in the yard a short distance from the house, and during the night the engine house caught on fire and the fire burned to the engine house, the family slept. The fire aroused some nearby neighbors, who hastened to the lickers house and found three sleeping soundly.

MYSTERY SOLVED.

Treasure Box Found in Dix River Deposited by Robbers Before Civil War.

Danville, Ky.—The mystery surrounding the discovery of the old box with gold coins in Dix river, near King's Mill, in this county, has been solved.

E. Flagg, one of the older citizens of this city, states that prior to the civil war this section of Kentucky was infested with bank robbers, and that a bank in Nicholasville was robbed at the time. The robbers were traced by the police to the Dix river cliffs, where the trail was lost. In later years a member of the gang, on his death bed in Lexington, confessed to the act and stated that a box of the coins secured were dropped in the waters of Dix river at King's Mill.

The court says, "The treasurer has the right to change the depository, and, of course, to remove the funds deposited by him."

TO TOUR MOUNTAIN DISTRICTS.

Rev. Frank Dewitt Talmage interested in Missions.

Lexington, Ky.—Frank Dewitt Talmage, pastor of the great Broad Street church of Philadelphia, and son of the famous preacher, the Rev. T. Talmage, of the City of New York, has become so deeply interested in the religious work of the Rev. Edward O. Guernant, president of the South Western conference of the Kentucky methodists, that he will arrive here next month to make a tour of the mountain district, and will preach in re-visit to the mountain region, which has never before heard so famous a minister.

Dr. Guernant last fall visited Philadelphia in the interest of the Kentucky Mountain mission, and on the invitation of Mr. Talmage, delivered a lecture in his church. Mr. Talmage became so interested in the work as presented on that occasion that he promised to come to Kentucky and make a visit to the missions. He has kept his promise in view, and writes that he will be here in July.

AT A CRITICAL PERIOD

Of Peculiar Interest to Women.

Mrs. Mary I. Remington, Eagleberry St., Glynn, Cal., says: "I suffered so severely from pain and soreness over the kidneys that it was a task for me to turn over in bed. My kidneys acted very frequently, but the secretions were retained and the passages scalded. I was weak and run down. After taking other remedies without benefit, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and was permanently cured. I was going through the critical period of a woman's life at that time and after using Doan's Kidney Pills there was a miraculous change for the better in my health."

FOXYP RIP.

"Why did Rip Van Winkle sleep 20 years?"

"I don't know, unless he wanted to dodge his taxes."

Why Jones Was Sad.

Jones' rich grandmother died and Jones seemed unnaturally depressed and sad. His friends tried to cheer him.

"She left a last will and testament, I suppose," said Jenkins, carelessly.

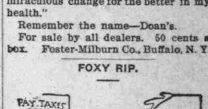

"Oh, yes," said Jones, raising his head at last, "she left a will and testament."

"Ah," chimed in Brown, "you were always a friend of hers. Of course your name was mentioned."

"Yes," answered Jones, bursting into floods of tears, "my name was mentioned, boys. I—I am to have—"

Some choked back his words.

"I," he declared at last, "am so have the Testament!"—Scraper.

The Laughing Barber.

Jim Rice, the coach of the Columbia crew, was praising a stalwart freshman.

"He's so young and tender," said the coach, "you'll never think he could row. Why, they laugh at him at the barbers."

"As he was getting his hair cut the other day he said to the barber wistfully:

"Do you think I'll have a strong beard? My father has a very strong one."

"It looks to me," said the barber, "as though you took after your mother."

The Vocabulary.

Webster was compiling the dictionary.

"Getting together a few words to use in a 50-word telegram," he explained.

Herewith the public called him blessed.

A DOCTOR'S EXPERIENCE

Medicine Not Needed in This Case.

It is hard to convince some people that coffee does them an injury. They lay their bad feelings to almost every cause but the true and unsuspected cause.

But the doctor knows. His wide experience has proven to him that to some systems, coffee is an insidious poison that undermines the health.

"Ask the doctor if coffee is the cause of constipation, stomach and nervous trouble."

"I have been a coffee drinker all my life. I am now 42 years old and my system has never been better than it is now. I have taken two years ago when I suffered from nervous prostration, the doctor said that my nervous system was broken down and that I would have to give up coffee."

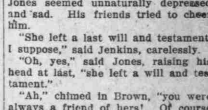

"I got so weak and shaky I could not work and requiring my assistance of Postum, I asked my grocer if he had any of it. He said: 'Yes,' and that he used it in his family, and it was all it claimed to be."

"So I quit coffee and commenced to use Postum steadily and found in about two weeks the time I could sleep soundly at night and get up in the morning feeling fresh. In about two months I began to gain flesh. I weighed only 140 pounds when I commenced on Postum, and now I weigh 167 and feel better than I did 29 years of age."

"I am drinking every day and sleep well at night. My two children were great coffee drinkers, but they have not drank any since Postum came into the house, and are far more healthy than they were before."

Read "The Road to Wellville," found in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the letters that I saw one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Does He?—Does the man who sends to a mail order house ever take into account the cost of postage, expressage, freight and other expenses involved in placing an order and getting it filled? Does he also take into account the vexatious delays he often meets, and the probability that what he bought is not in quality and other features that which he expected it to be? When a man buys of his local merchant he knows what he is getting and no waiting for it.

"For He's a Jolly Good Fellow"

One of the old time editors of the South, sometimes imbibes too freely of Kentucky's famous pot, and when he so refreshes himself he forgets to go home at a reasonable hour, and sometimes smiles in at 3 A. M. He was in a joyful mood on one occasion, and after many efforts at the front door lock, succeeded in getting into his hall but he could not find the stairway.

Finally on all fours, he was hunting the lower step and succeeded in awakening his wife at the same time. She came to the banister and called over, in a frightened tone: "Who's there?" The genial colonel tried to straighten himself and answered authoritatively: "It's your husband, madam. Whom were you expecting?"

Another time he was in the same happy mood, and returning home at an early morning hour, wondered what he would do to explain his delay to his wife. Passing through the hall he had a glad thought. He gathered up himself an umbrella from the hall tree. Proceeding upstairs he sat down upon the foot of his wife's bed and raised the umbrella over him. Awakening suddenly, she met with this bewildering apparition and exclaimed in horror: "What are you doing? Are you mad?" "I'm merely waiting for the coming storm, my dear."

Trials Postponed.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 11.—On motion of the Commonwealth all the so-called night rider cases set for trial at the present term of the Christian Circuit Court were continued to-day until the seventh day of the September term.

Prosecuting Attorney Smith stated that the condition of Milton Oliver, principal State witness, who was recently wounded by a would-be assassin, was such he could not appear in court. Physicians said his wound was not sufficiently held for the strain to testify.

No objection to a postponement was offered by the defense; The bonds of Dr. Amos and other defendants will be renewed and nearly one hundred witnesses were recognized to appear at the September term.

Expecting the trials to be called to-day an immense but orderly crowd gathered at the court house this morning. Deputy Sheriffs searched every person for weapons before he was allowed to enter the court room. Many women were in the crowd, the postponement of the cases has relieved the tension and no trouble of any kind is expected.

Ends Winter's Troubles.

The Average Cost of Living.

It is estimated that in 1908 the cost of living was nearly 12 per cent higher than it would have been without a tariff. Hence, calculating that the average family consumed $941 worth of supplies per annum, its increased payment on account of the tariff was $111. Of this $111, $116.50 went to the government in collections, and $94.50 went to the trusts in high prices. Of $94.50, $6.25 was on woollens; more than $17.00 on clothing; $8.25 on beef, mutton and pork, etc. In 1910, the cost of living hence 15 per cent higher than in 1908, the average family pays $1,083, which is 10 per cent, or $108, is tribute to the trusts and other protected industries.

A Royal Tribute To The American Tobacco Company

There is no question before the people of Kentucky of more vital and overwhelming interest than the whole subject of the raising, marketing, manufacturing and sale of tobacco, and the profits accruing from the production of the weed to the various men interested—the grower, the middle man and the manufacturer.

That there may be some realization of the profits obtained by the manufacturer, we take from the Wall Street Journal an article showing the dividends paid on the common stock of the American Tobacco Company for the six years from 1905 to 1910, inclusive. The aggregate of the dividends paid in these years, as shown, is seventy millions of dollars, 175 per cent on the par value of the capital stock of the American Tobacco Company, every share of which is water as pure as falls from the heavens. The common stock of this company represents no investment of money, but simply the power of this company to earn money because of the combination which has enabled it to buy its material at its own price and to sell its products at its own price.

This trust has been in operation for years. In defiance of the law and in contempt of public opinion, it has pursued its own sweet way. Suits have been brought against it. But upon one pretext or another, for one assigned reason after another, they have never been pressed to a conclusion. No officer of this trust has been convicted of violation of the criminal law.

Seventy millions of dollars taken from the people of the country and distributed to those who own the common stock of this company within six years is the tribute the people pay. A princely tribute it is. No king or emperor of Europe has so large an annual income from his subjects as the American people pay to the owners of the common stock of the American Tobacco Company.

But though no officer of this company has been sent to jail or branded as a felon because of the violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, eight residents of Grant county, men heretofore of high character, whose offense was preventing either with or without force the shipment of four hogheads of tobacco, have been tried and convicted as felons.

And this same American Tobacco Company has maintained lobbyists at the Capitol at Frankfort and at the Capital at Washington; it has in its employ men who have been elected to high office by the voters of Kentucky men who today hold a commission as servants of the people, men who expect to receive the votes of people of the State in coming elections.—Lexington Herald.

ONLY A COUNTRY BOY

She was a very little girl, with hair like spun gold, big brown eyes and a red mouth like a wax doll's. She stood in the little arbor as James came up the road, and he thought he had never seen anything so beautiful. He noticed that she was little and slender, too; that her clothes were dainty and her hands white. As he came nearer she stepped out from the arbor and asked, with a little curl of her lip:

"Are you my cousin James Creeley?"

He was only a country boy and so stood and stared in amazement. Then he ejaculated:

"Me? Yes! Your cousin? No!"

"But you must be," persisted the girl. "They said I would see you, and," she added, with a glance which took in every detail of James' costume from the bare feet to the "hickory" shirt, "they said you were a handsome lad." And with that she snuffed a disdainful little sniff and walked stately toward the house.

Jim stood looking after her, a flush mantling the freckled cheeks and the white forehead under the red hair. He saw the white dress vanish as she turned the corner of the house, and he walked on. He reached the barn just as Mary had finished milking the cows. "Don't you know there's company?" she asked as she swung the milk pail around to see the bubbles dance. "And they're going to stay for a week, and you ought to be dressed."

A week! Jim's heart would have sunk into his boots had he worn any. As it was it seemed to go up into his throat and stick there in a big lump. He went around the yard, shutting the chickens into the henhouse and putting the farm tools away. Then he went to the house. His mother met him at the door and gave him a list of directions which made his head spin. The result was he came down to supper looking like a city boy. But the freckles and red hair were still there.

As the days went by the color came into the white cheeks of the little golden haired girl, and when her mother had to go back to the city she decided to leave her to stay another week or so. Jim felt that the cows were ugly now, the horses were slow, the fields of wheat and timothy and the wild roses that grew in the hedge were all dull and drab. He could only find sunshine when little Nell was with him. She hated a boy with dirty hands, who couldn't dance and who was awkward and stupid.

One morning she started out for a long walk. Jim saw her as she went out the gate. She had a long piece of white thread in her hand and carried three pins in her mouth. "Fleelin," said Jim.

She had heard her uncle say that there were plenty of fish in the Deep brook if people were not too lazy to catch them. She would catch some, then Jim would see that a city girl could do more than a country boy. Her proud little nose turned up at the very mention of the name.

The brook was soon reached, and Nellie sat down and threw her line as far out as she could. She watched the hook float a moment and then disappeared. She listened to the chirp of the birds in the trees along the bank. She saw the sunlight glimmer through the leaves, and she became drowsy.

Suddenly she started up. Her line had slipped from her hand and was floating in the water almost beyond her reach. She heaved over and by a supreme effort caught it, but could not pull it in. One end was caught fast under a stone in the middle of the brook. She thought of the fish she meant to catch and gave two or three hard tugs. There was a jerk, the string broke, her feet slid on the slippery bank, and the next moment the little girl was struggling in the water, and the water closed above the golden head, leaving ever widening circles shimmering on the surface of the brook.

There was a great rustling among the bushes, a white face and a crown of red hair appeared for a second, and then both had plunged into the water. Nell felt her hair being pulled very hard. She wondered afterward why it took her breath away and why she was so—so sleepy.

When Jim made his appearance at the farmyard with his clothes wringing wet, his hair standing on end and the little bundle of moss in his arms Mrs. Farmer all but had hysterics. She said he was a brave boy when he told the story, but knowing how to swim and giving one's life up for another were quite usual for her boys. The next day Nell was to go home. She came out to the barn where Jim was watering the cows and stood lovingly caressing the velvet nose of the spotted calf.

"I am going away, Jim," she said shyly, "and I came to thank you for saving my life."

She looked at him over the calf's head and smiled sweetly. Jim flushed. He stammered something about not having done anything extraordinary.

"But you know I would have died, wouldn't I, if you hadn't come?"

"Mebbe," said Jim.

"Mamma would have been very sorry," continued Nell in her soft little voice.

"So would I," Jim managed to say.

"And so city boys could have done it," she continued, still patting the "bossy" head with her little hand.

"Pooh!" announced Jim.

She looked up. "I want you to come and see us—come home with me now. Mamma said so," she said.

"And they have been good friends ever since, though he is only a country boy."

Rev. Ous Hamilton, of Kentucky came in last week bringing with him a handsome wife from that state. We congratulate Ous twice, first, for his ability in selecting a handsome wife, second, for his selection of the highest calling—the ministry. We are informed that he is held in high esteem by the congregations he is serving as pastor. A beautiful paragon about ready for his occupancy. Glad to know that he has a brilliant outlook before him in Kentucky. Not all towns have brought up with town environments that attain to that eminence. A K. A. Ous Hamilton, with one of Kentucky's pretty and accomplished young ladies as his bride, arrived in our city last Thursday to be the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E.
